Financial Tracking Technologies Expands Pay to Play Solution

December 12, 2011-Greenwich, CT. Financial Tracking Technologies, LLC announced today enhanced features of its pay to play solution, CampaignChecks Premier. The solution facilitates employee contribution disclosure, monitoring and verification process for political contributions and fulfills SEC rule 206(4)-5 for money managers, Foreign Corrupt Practices Act and other regulations for public companies, and MSRB rules for broker dealers. The expanded feature will now check contribution databases and alert if an employee did not receive clearance prior to making a political contribution or contributed a different amount than approved.

"These expanded services relieve compliance groups of the arduous and daunting tasks of gathering and analyzing employee political contribution data and take away the worry that their firm is out of compliance. The risks of losing revenue from government clients, being subject to fines and enforcement actions because a political contribution or payment was overlooked are just too great. With database connections to all relevant information, CampaignChecks Premier enables clients to know early on if there is a problem." said, Tony Turner, principal of Financial Tracking Technologies, LLC.

With CampaignChecks, employees can report political contributions, solicitations, answer questions via an online form and certify as to accuracy and full disclosure of their participation in the political process. The software checks against the firm's government client and prospect lists. CampaignChecks Premier includes automatic checks against databases that include employee residence and voter registration jurisdictions, elected official and candidate jurisdictions and political contributions at the city, state, and national levels. Premier verifies via a rules engine that employees have not violated federal or state firm and regulatory contribution guidelines by illegally influencing contract awards, a practice commonly referred to as "pay to play".
